Five – Day Workshop on Planning Effective Project Proposals with NGOs

*A Unit of ADHWANA (Reg. in 2002)

Empowering people for Sustainable Development

To plan and write effective project proposals, one requires sharp knowledge about the background, methods, tools and structure and skills to use the knowledge. Without serious and intensive training, it is practically impossible to prepare proposals which will attract resources. This training will equip all the participants with necessary knowledge and skills to prepare proposals.

About CCRT

CCRT has been in the field of training and capacity building for professionals in social development for more than 19 years. We have already trained several hundred professionals in India during the past. The need for skills and knowledge for fund raising has highly increased in recent times both due to decreasing resources world-wide and due to increasing needs in India. COVID has now caused unprecedented demand for resources to serve suffering human beings in agony. It is in this context that CCRT is coming up with an excellent training program at lowest possible cost so that it is accessible to all who are interested to learn the skills of project proposal writing.
